1. The drawings filed on 6/20/2003 are accepted by the Examiner.

REASONS FOR ALLOWANCE

Claims 1-12 are allowed.

2. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance.

This invention relates generally to embedding information in images using two-layer conjugate screening.

Claim 1 representative of claims 6 and 9, the closest prior art of record (Wang and Yen) do not disclose or suggest, among other things "generating a second user image using the first halftone screen whereby upon placing the first and second user images in a superposed relationship to allow viewing of both user images together, a positive correlation occurs between the two user images within the regions in which the first halftone screen is used the first user image, and a negative correlation occurs between the two user images within the regions in which the second halftone screen is used in the first user image, so that the authentication image becomes visible in contrast between the positive correlation of the corresponding regions and the negative correlation of the remaining regions enabling authentication of the authenticable document, and a negative correlation occurs between the two halftone screens in the first and second user images everywhere within the region in which the second halftone screen is a conjugate of the corresponding region of the first halftone screen, and where a positive correlation occurs where the two screens are identical, so that the authentication image becomes visible in contrast between the positive correlation of the corresponding regions and the negative correlation of the remaining regions enabling authentication of the authenticable document.

These key features in combination with the other features of the claimed invention are neither taught nor suggested by (Wang and Yen) prior art of record.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
